<sup>1</sup> Petitioner insists that his pending habeas petition is not a second or successive petition. A closer examination of the record reveals that he is correct.

When we transferred his petition to the Third Circuit, there had been confusion arising from his having filed an earlier petition challenging two separate conditions for two unrelated homicides. The confusion having been clarified, we recognize that the petition was not a second or successive one. Transferring this petition to the Third Circuit Court of Appeals for authorization to file it as a second or successive petition was improvident.

After a thorough review of the record, we agree with Magistrate Judge Strawbridge's findings and conclusions in his thorough and well-reasoned report. We conclude that the petition is barred by the AEDPA statute of limitations and its untimeliness is not excused by statutory or equitable tolling.
